

Key Concepts and Methods in Ethnography, Language & Communication (ELC)

COURSE DIRECTOR Dr Ben Rampton
*Professor of Applied and Sociolinguistics,
King's College London*

19 – 23 July 2010 (5 days)
King's College London,
Waterloo Campus

Is 'qualitative data analysis' too vague for you? Are you wondering how to do justice to your data? If you are researching social processes, institutions, culture or identity, but unsure about how to analyse the discourse data from your fieldwork, then consider joining this five day research training course.

The programme is designed to help PhD and post-doctoral researchers to navigate the twin perils of over- and under-interpreting discourse data. It introduces a range of key perspectives and tools used to study language and communication ethnographically and it facilitates the study of social practice in a wide range of different settings – education, workplace, recreation, health etc. Initiated with funding from the Economic and Social Research Council (ESRC) in 2007, this will be our third annual ELC five day course.

WHO SHOULD ATTEND?

Social scientists and researchers who have collected verbal data they need to analyse qualitatively, in particular PhD and post-doctoral researchers, lecturers and others.

Course fees: £700

Students/PhD-students and King's College London Alumni are entitled to a reduced course fee of £595.

Course fees include all course materials. Upon completion of the course participants will be awarded a King's College London Certificate of Attendance.

ACCOMMODATION

King's College London cooperates with 3–5 star hotels close to the campus, which offer special rates to participants. For details, please contact: Eleanor Salt at cpd@kcl.ac.uk or +44 (0)20 7848 8183.

HOW TO APPLY

To apply, please complete the online form www.kcl.ac.uk/cpd/elc and ask your supervisor, Head of Department or equivalent to provide a brief statement in support of your application.

Both forms need to be completed by the Closing Date for Applications: 30 April 2010. Successful applicants will be notified.

CONTACT

To learn more please visit www.rdi-elc.org.uk or contact Dr Cordula Janowski, Programme Manager Executive Education at cordula.janowski@kcl.ac.uk or on +44 (0)20 7848 6814.

THE COURSE DIRECTOR Dr Ben Rampton

Director of the Centre for Language Discourse and Communication, and Director of the ESRC-RDI Programme on 'Ethnography, Language and Communication', is Professor of Applied and Sociolinguistics at King's College London. His work combines ethnography and interactional sociolinguistics. He is the author of Crossing: Language & Ethnicity among Adolescents (1995) and Language in Late Modernity: Interaction in an Urban School (2006), and has been on the editorial boards of Ethnography and the Journal of Linguistic Anthropology.

COURSE FACULTY

The programme is taught by Prof Ben Rampton and an international team of leading researchers:

Dr Jeff Bezemer

Research Fellow, Imperial College London

Prof Jan Blommaert

Professor of Linguistic Anthropology and Director of the Babylon Research Centre, Tilburg University, the Netherlands

Prof Carey Jewitt

Professor in Learning & Technology, and Research Councils UK (RCUK) Academic Fellow, Institute of Education

Dr Adam Lefstein

Senior Lecturer in Education, Institute of Education

Prof Celia Roberts

Professor of Applied Linguistics, King's College London.